English and Drama

This week, we continued exploring the captivating collection of Anansi stories. We listened to the stories, Anansi and the Two Dinners and Anansi and the Pot of Wisdom. We discussed what 'wisdom' is and thought about wise things that people had told us. If you want to listen to the Anansi stories that we have been learning, you can find them here:

Maths

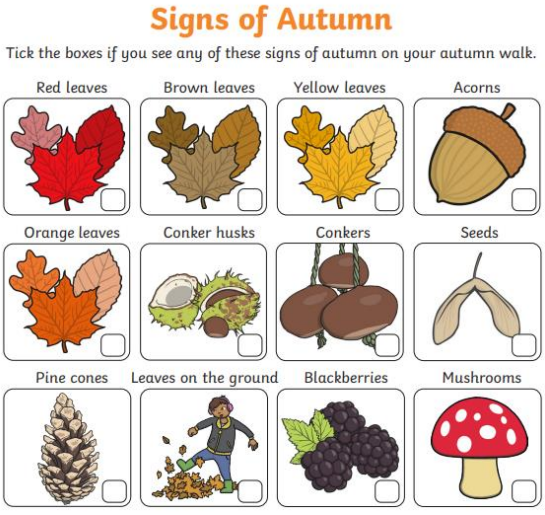

In Maths, we have been counting in 10s and recognising and writing the numerals that represent the decade numbers. Practise writing teen and decade numbers. What is the same? What is different?

11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 10 20 30 40 50 60 70 80 90

Geography

This week in Geography, we have been acting like geographers. We explored the school grounds to look for signs of autumn. When you are out about in the half term, can you find any signs of Autumn? Can you use leaves to make an autumn picture?

Outdoor stage area

We are planning on updating the stage in our outdoor area. Katie Hudson (a parent from Treefrogs and an amazing author/illustrator) has very kindly offered to paint the backdrop. If you would like to make a small donation to the cost of the wood for the backdrop (the total is £50) please give this to your child's class teacher. Thank you!

Half term

If you are stuck for things to do over half term, The Imperial War Museum has some amazing events for their Big Story Festival. Have a look: iwm.or.uk/festival

Have a restful half term!
