

The Tate Hear My Story Project

In 2018-19 The Tate ran the Yr3 Photography Project with the artist and director Steve McQueen. The children who are now in Yr5 had their photographs taken and displayed in the Duveen Galleries at Tate Britain. This year The Tate have launched the Hear My Story Project and we are delighted to announce that Kilmorie are taking part in this. Kate launched the project in a recent whole school assembly and teachers have shared Part One of the project What Makes You, You? with their classes.

The project encourages students to think of themselves – their lived experiences, cultures, histories, ideas and questions – as the starting point for looking at art and making stories.

Here is a video which explains the first part of the project:

\(1\) Hear My Story: Part 2 - Introduction for Students | Tate - YouTube

It matters whose stories get told. It matters whose stories we hear.

ARTWORKS

Here is a selection of artists for you to use as inspiration to support the first activity. The artists show how looking at different objects, places and people for inspiration can be a great way to start making art. Depending on how much time you have to spend on the project this term, you could: - Watch them yourself and share with colleagues. - Show them to your students in the classroom. - Use them to kick start further research into the artists.

This is Chila Kumari Singh Burman – find out about her and her work here:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=3PiAJmH-YRQ>

This is Njideka Akunyili Crosby – find out about her and her work here:
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UeYP8ssD_BM

This is Joy Labinjo – find out about her and her work here:
BALTIC Bites: Joy Labinjo \(subtitled\) - YouTube

This is Sarah Kwan – find out about her and her work here:
\(2\) I Combine My Cultures To Create Art | Loop | BBC Scotland - YouTube

Part Two of the project is launched on March 15th and in the meantime, The Tate have produced two additional drawing projects. These are Y is for Who Are You? and W is for Who Are We?